

Takondwa Mary Malamba is a junior surgical trainee with interest in paediatric surgery and global surgery. Born and raised in Malawi, her passion for surgery dawned right before enrolling into medical school. This interest has been enrooted that she got into surgery training soon after medical school and internship. She recently has attained the membership certification with COSECSA and will proceed into a paediatric surgery fellowship. In the future, she looks forward to be a committed member of this prestigious WiSA community to provide a welcoming environment in training and mentoring upcoming female surgeons in the Africa and beyond.
